Cacao nibs vs whole beans

Here's a little known secret..

nibs are just roasted and peeled cacao beans....

but crumbled during factory processing!

We sell you the whole beans, handled with care and compassion throughout the thread of production, from farmers to packing.

However you may receive some nibs due to transport breakage.

If you like to use nibs at home... simply crumble the beans by hand or in a processor before adding to your food or recipe.

INFORMATION ABOUT OUR CACAO PRODUCTS

Chocolate bloom

This chocolate is not tempered and has a high content of cacao butter and therefore will have the tendency to "bloom" which is a natural effect caused by the instability of the natural fats and how they react to humidity and changes in temperatures (during transportation for example).

While being perfectly safe and having no effect on the flavor, your block of chocolate may look white or gray in aspect...
sometimes it may appear like a wonderful piece of modern art!

If you melt it and solidify again, the bloom will completely disappear with no effect on flavor.

PRICING

We offer 3 different prices : retail, wholesale and crowdfunding.

The retail price is what we recommend for resale and the price we apply in our store for small amounts.

If you are interested to order in large quantities or on a regular basis, we can offer you our wholesales prices.

The quantity needed to receive whole sale prices depends on the product & your location, so please contact us to see if you may qualify.

The crowdfunding price is a special offer we have to provide you with a mutually beneficial deal.

You will get 20% off the recommended retail price, and we will ship to you as soon as possible.

This way you help us now with urgently needed funds & get our amazing goods with a discount.

You can find more information on that topic at : www.tuqtuquilal.com/donate

Those prices DO NOT INCLUDE TRANSPORT. This varies, but it is about $6 / lb.

Please contact us for a shipping quote. It will largely depend on your location and quantity of products.
